CAUSED BY

ACCIDENT, INCENDIARISM, LIGHTNING

Or any Other Cause.

I REPRESENT the oldest company in America, and also the largest company in the United States, together with other standard American and European institutions. The Ætna of Hartford alone has paid over $45,000,000 in losses, and has now $7,000,000 assets in hand.

Insurance in such companies, with ample means, and an established reputation for fair dealing, is worth much more than in any of the numerous weaklings that totter along for a while and then go down. About fifty such companies have failed during the last year, and as many others are on the way to ruin.

The rates in these first-class companies are no higher than in the small and doubtful concerns.

Farm property taken very low for three or five years.

All losses settled at this office. For terms call on, or address by mail the undersigned at the office of this paper. L. D. DAVIS.

WASHINGTON.

HOUSE ARMY BILL IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—After the introduction of morning business, Senator Eaton called up the House army interference bill and moved that it lie on the table.

Mr. Edmunds moved that the usual course be followed and that it be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, but this was refused by a party vote; so the bill is on the table, and can be taken up at any time by a majority of the Senate.

THE RAID ON INDIAN LANDS.

There is no longer any doubt that the movement in Kansas to occupy the Indian Territory with a large force of settlers is vigorously supported in Washington. Its backers here are not only the railroad lobby, working for the destruction of tribal relations in the Indian Territory, but have evidently been reinforced by various persons having official relations with the majority in the present Congress. The boast among those interested is that the movement has now gained such headway that it will be utterly impossible for general government with any troops which it has at its disposal to prevent its final success.

KELLOGG TO BE UNSEATED.

The Democratic movement to unseat Senator Kellogg was advanced today by the passage of a resolution reopening the case and permitting the committee on elections to take testimony on the charge preferred by the contestant, Spofford, that Kellogg secured his election by bribery. The speech of Kellogg delivered towards the close of the debate was exceedingly effective and strong. He made many telling points, and charged the Democrats with being influenced in the present course by a desire to accomplish partizan purposes; but he reminded them, that although they might sacrifice him, the time would come when the precedent they were about to establish would be brought home to themselves, for under it the next Republican Senate might inquire into the legality of the Senatorial representation of five or six Southern states.

The opinion among Republicans this morning is quite general that the President will sign the Democratic caucus military interference bill. In that event there is no doubt that the Army Appropriation bill will be reported from the House Appropriations Committee in exactly the form in which it was, with the exception of the political rider, and passed through both Houses without any considerable debate in either, but the main fight, of course, is to come on the political amendments to the Legislative Appropriation bill. On that question there is not the slightest doubt that the President is in the most complete accord with the Republicans, and that he in no event and in no form will sign any bill tending to modify the supervisors' or the general elections laws, unless at the same time some better substitute is presented with the proposed repealing act.

INDIANA LOCAL ELECTIONS.

Results Satisfactory to the Republicans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 7.—Speaking of the elections yesterday the Journal says:

"The result of the elections held in all the towns and cities of Indiana which are organized under the general law is eminently satisfactory. The Republican victory was complete except in one or two cities, where the result was influenced by local issues. The Republicans make large gains in Indianapolis. They elect John Coven Mayor over Buskirk by 1,984 majority, and elect the whole Republican ticket by unexpected majorities, obtaining four out of the five Aldermen and eighteen out of the twenty-five Councilmen."

Accomplices Outside.

NEW YORK, May 7.—At 20 minutes to 11 o'clock tonight a man rushed breathlessly into the Tenth Precinct Station House and cried, "send a man to Ludlow street jail, Red Leary has escaped." A squad of men were collected and hastened to the spot where it was learned Leary had escaped by the help of confederates who had occupied rooms in an adjoining building.

John Leary, or "Red," as he is better known, was confined in the jail awaiting a requisition from the state of Massachusetts for complicity in the Northampton bank robbery. As is the case with other prisoners, he was allowed to walk about the corridors until 10.30 P. M. His cell was on the lower tier, but he was in the habit of walking on the second tier and generally on the north end of the jail. He was last seen about 9 o'clock when the watchman Wendell, noticed him sauntering about the corridors as usual.

At half-past ten o'clock, Wendell went to Leary's cell to lock him in and found he was missing. Rushing up to the second tier, he found a hole in the wall of the water-closet. At first glance the hole seemed to go downward and the watchman concluded the escape had probably been made through the carriage way beneath and over Essex street prison wall. He thus reported to Acting Warden Fitzsimmons, who, however, discovered the hole had been made through the wall of an adjoining building, No. 76 Ludlow street, and into the fireplace of a room on the fifth floor.

The police made a careful search of the neighboring tenement houses, as well as of the one through which the escape was made. John Greichmann and wife, who are the agents of 76 Ludlow street, were found on the first floor. They had no keys to the upper rooms, and the police burst open the door.

Leary's accomplices had made extensive preparations for the sure delivery of their friend. One room had a bed and sofa in it. Another was supplied with meat, vegetables, pies, altogether an extensive larder, while a third room was reserved for active operations for delivery. Blankets had been spread on the floor, and at the mouth of the fireplace pillows had been arranged.

A hole two feet in diameter was dug through double walls four feet thick and the debris was carefully packed in a closet under the stairway, so that in case of surprise, with the closet door closed and the fireboard up, all suspicion of their real operations would be covered up. Near the fireplace were found several jimmies, cold chisels and other implements used in the work. Evidently, the exact time for the removal of the last layer of bricks was arranged between the confederates, and the escape was probably not discovered until an hour after the bird had flown.

John Mink, who lives on the second floor of the tenement, says about 9:25 o'clock he was entering the street door, when he met three men going out. They walked quickly toward Broome street, and as they turned the corner they quickened their pace into a trot.

The housekeeper and his wife said a woman, calling herself Mrs. Myers, engaged rooms on the top floor, front, on the second day of May. The next day another woman came to occupy them, saying she was to live there with her husband, who was a longshoreman, and her son who was a clerk. The housekeeper and his wife insisted they had never seen any men in the rooms. Their conflicting statements led to their arrest and detention.

"Red" Leary is a man about forty years of age, weighs nearly two hundred and forty pounds, stands six feet high and has fiery red hair and beard. A general alarm was immediately sent throughout this and neighboring cities, and super-human efforts will be made to effect his recapture, especially since this is the second of the Northampton burglars who have escaped from the Ludlow street jail.

FOREIGN.

Another Failure to Legalize Marriage With a Deceased Wife's Sister.

LONDON, May 7.—In the House of Lords last night, the Prince of Wales presented a petition in favor of the bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister. He said he believed the measure would be a great advantage. Lord Houghton (Liberal) moved a second reading of the bill. The Government, represented by Lord Cranbrook, strongly opposed it, and a second reading was defeated by 101 to 81. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburg and Bishop Ripon voted with the minority, and fourteen bishops with the majority.

THE TRUE CONDITION OF ST. PETERSBURG.

LONDON, May 7.—The Journal de St. Petersburg says the news published abroad about the state of affairs in St. Petersburg, is untrue. There has been no prohibition against the possession of arms, but persons possessing arms must inform the authorities. All traffic is entirely free and uninterrupted. The statements that theatres could not be visited without an official permit, and that lights in houses would not be allowed after ten o'clock, are ridiculous inventions. The city lives and works in the same manner as heretofore.

TWO ZULU LEADERS KILLED.

LONDON, May 8.—A dispatch from Cape Town says a white prisoner who escaped from the Zulus reports that Umbelini and his brother were both killed in the attack on Wood's camp.

HANLAN.

LONDON, May 8.—The Sportsman announces that the trustees of the Sportsman's challenge cup have readily consented to the inclusion of the cup in the championship match between Elliott and Hanlan.

A Canadian supporter yesterday bet £675 to £300 on Hanlan. The stakes in the Hanlan-Hawdon match were paid Wednesday.

In reply to a challenge made by Mr. Barross, the backer of Boyd, Ross offers to row Boyd for his own sum over the Thames championship course.

THE FORT PILLOW AFFAIR.

An Interesting Discussion in the House.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—An interesting discussion took place in the House this morning on the Fort Pillow massacre. Mr. Chalmers (Dem., Miss.) made his statement, and was followed by Mr. Garfield, who reviewed the facts commonly understood. It was a striking scene; the Confederate general explaining his record in the war and gentlemen on both sides debating courteously so delicate a point. Mr. Chalmer's statement was quite effective, and members gave close attention to his and the following speeches.

Afterward a sharp discussion took place between Mr. Chalmers and Mr. Burrows (Rep., Mich.), and after great confusion, and cries for the regular order, the resolution to investigate the matter was laid on the table.

SITTING BULL.

Decision By the Secretary of War.

NEW YORK, May 7.—A Washington special to the Graphic says the Secretary of War states that the United States of course does not decide who are British subjects, but our Government decides who are its citizens and subjects. In regard to the threatened return of Sitting Bull the Secretary says the Indians were waited on by a U. S. Commission, asking them to return, but they refused, and Sitting Bull and tribe are no longer subjects of this country. The Secretary says: "My orders to General Sherman are that whenever any Indian from Sitting Bull's camps makes his appearance on this side of the border, no matter whether his intentions be hostile or peaceful, he shall be either driven back over the border or captured and held as a prisoner of war for future orders. If they come over with hostile intent it will be, in my judgment, an invasion of United States territory by armed enemies, for which the British Government might be held responsible. The matter will be difficult to decide if they come peaceably, as it would be emigration then, and not invasion. But if they come with hostile intent they will be treated just as white people would be under the same circumstances. Then it became necessary to notify Great Britain that we considered Sitting Bull and his men British subjects.

A BETTER SYSTEM DEMANDED.

When the markets for all kinds of farm products are depressed at present, and when, with a few exceptions, these products sell upon the market at a price far below the cost of actual production (if all the items attending their productions were taken into account) it is one of the most vital matters for the farmer to master, as to how he may in the future produce the crops and articles which his farm yields, so as to make his business more remunerative. Now perhaps a better way of indicating how this may be done cannot be suggested, than by enumerating some of the most conspicuous defects in our past methods, a practice which has had much to do with bringing about the condition of unprofitable farming from which just now so many are suffering. The leading defects are these :—

1. Attempting to manage more land than can be properly and profitably cultivated; or in other words, expending time and money on a large surface to get smaller returns than would come from the same effort expended on less surface.

2. The immense loss sustained from failing to care for the home resources of fertilization, and from the total loss of the valuable liquid excrements of the farm stock.

3. In raising and feeding scrubby, indifferent animals, when good ones could be grown at the same cost, and at far greater profit.

4. Again, in the loss sustained in keeping more animals of the first-named class than the farmer can properly provide food and the right care and keeping for.

5. The exposure, in an unnecessary way, of farm implements to the inclemencies of the weather, whereby a great loss is yearly experienced.

6. The failure to keep some simple form of accounts—a record of cash receipts and expenditures, to know just what the condition of the business of the farm is at any time.

7. Disposing of the crops of the farm in the form in which they are harvested, thereby selling a raw material, rather than in changing them into beef, mutton, pork, cheese, butter and other manufactured articles, and selling at a better price, retaining one profit at home in the manure obtained, and getting another profit in the sale of the manufactured product.

8. Failing to attend to the little details of the farm in a proper manner—those minor but important things in which lies the margin of profit, or the cause of large loss.

9. A too heavy purchase of articles which should be raised at home, or got along without.

10. The loss of crops as the season of harvest, through not having proper machinery or sufficient force to secure them at the right time and in the best condition.

11. Want of good judgment in selling the products raised, and in the purchase of commodities needed, a matter that may be acquired by a little experience and the careful exercise of common sense.

12. In short, the failure to make farming a business, and to manage every detail of the farm in accordance with good business principles.

Now what is the remedy for all this? The leading and prominent defects of our system of farming, so far as it may be called a system, are briefly indicated above. Go over them carefully and see if each one mentioned does not contain a real keynote to some one feature of our present depression in farming. Then it is plain that to bring about a different condition, just these defects must be remedied. Begin with the first, and say to yourself, "That shall be changed this year," and so go on all through the list. Put in force some agency that shall reverse every one of the defects pointed out, in your own individual management, and it will be only a little time before they will so lead to a better condition of American agriculture in general, as will make you wonder you suffered these defects to control your management as long as you did.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

STIMULATE THE SLUGGISH KIDNEYS.

In addition to its tonic and cathartic properties, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercises a beneficial influence upon the kidneys and bladder, when they are inactive, by stimulating them to renewed exertion, thus reopening, as it were, a sluice for the escape of impurities whose regular channel of exit is the organs of urination. Among those are certain abnormal and inflammatory elements, productive of irreparable injury to the system if not entirely expelled. The kidneys and bladder themselves are also benefitted by this stimulus, as their inactivity is usually a preliminary to their disease and disorganization. They also experience, in common with other portions of the system, the potent invigorative effects of the Bitters, which furthermore corrects disordered conditions of the stomach, bowels and liver.

Newport Daily News, and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon, (Sundays excepted), at the News building, 13 Church street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, the latest markets and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large 32 column paper and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12½ cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $1 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines, or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the Daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty-five changes a year. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

The job office has recently been supplied with new type and a new press, especially adapted to fine work. Liberal supplies of choice papers, envelopes and cards, always on hand. Prices as low as possible for first class work.

THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1879.

The trial of J. Currie, for the murder of Porter, the actor, will commence June 1st.

Cox, the murderer of Colonel Alston, was yesterday sentenced to imprisonment for life. A motion for a new trial was made.

The ice in Buffalo harbor is packed hard in many places solidly to the bottom, forming hummocks full a mile in some places in breadth. Nothing succeeded in getting through yesterday.

Another attempt in England to legalize marriage with a deceased wife's sister has failed. A resolution in the Commons abolishing an action for breach of promise of marriage, except in cases where actual pecuniary loss has been incurred by reason of the promise, was carried.

An explosion in the Wilkesbarre coal mines badly burned eight men, and it is feared that several of them will die. The mine was set on fire by the explosion, and it attained such headway that six hundred feet of solid coal were soon burning furiously. It is now being flooded.

Mrs. Underwood, a prominent society lady of Milwaukee, was arrested yesterday on the charge of uttering forged papers. The note purported to be the paper of Alvan G. Underwood, of Milford, Mass., the father-in-law of the accused. It is alleged that similar notes to the amount of $13,000 are held by prominent parties in that city.

The race for the Chester (England) Trades' Cup was won by Reefer. Parole finished fourth in the race. The Sportsman says that no excuse is made for Parole's defeat. The race seemed at his mercy, but he suddenly stopped and began to reel like a drunken man. The inference is that speed, not stamina, is his forte. In consequence of his speed he was expected to make a bold bid for the great Cheshire handicap.

Whittemore, Peat, Post & Co., woolen and dry goods merchants, of New York, suspended yesterday. The liabilities range from $500,000 to $750,000. The firm allowed mill owners to overdraw. It was also interested in certain mills, and backed them heavily during the panic, making a heavy advance to the Sprogues just before they failed. The late failure of Allen's Print Works, Providence, brought the firm's affairs to a crisis.

THE POCASSET HORROR.

The murderer Freeman and his wife object to the plea in their behalf that they are insane and their objection is probably well founded. It is not always safe to rely on the party accused to pass judgment on such a question, but in this case none of the facts go to show any thing further than religious fanaticism. Freeman believed that he received revelations as to duty from God, and like hosts of others mistook his impressions for revelations. He grew wild with excitement over a question concerning which he could not possibly form a correct judgment; a question in which the wisest and ablest of men have been and are still in doubt.

In the case in question, Freeman in conversation admitted that he undertook the act with a full understanding of what he was doing. He knew that he was violating the law. He knew that people would look upon it as a horrible crime, and he knew that it would be agony for him to take the life of his little daughter. When asked by a gentleman whether he did not think it was a delusion to believe that God put things into the hearts of men to do, he at once responded, "do you think it a delusion when your minister tells you that God put it into his heart to preach the Gospel, or that God directed him to be a missionary? Now, I just as firmly believe that God put it into my heart—that is, spoke to me—to do that act, that the world might see that there was faith even as great as Abraham's. I did think that he would stay my hand before I struck the blow. I can't see any difference between my firm belief that God spoke to me and the firm belief of others that they have been in personal communion with God."

It may be well for all men who are expecting revelations from time to time to consider the fact that the church generally holds that the canon is complete; that while it is true that the Holy Spirit prompts to duty and that in answer to prayer the work of grace is carried on among men so that mighty results follow, it is not to be expected that new doctrines are to be declared to individual souls. What is necessary for man's salvation is published, so that all may know and understand the way of life. Men who seek to know the will of God should study his written word, and ask for wisdom to understand it. To go outside and seek additional revelations is fanaticism and must lead to bad results though not often as bad as in the case before us. That Freeman is a sincere and honest believer there is no doubt and his error consists largely in following a somewhat popular false premise to its legitimate end.

EBEN H. GODBOLD.

Mr. Godbold was born in New Haven, Connecticut, in August, 1843; and consequently was in his thirty-sixth year, at the time of his death. He received his education for the most part in Boston, Massachusetts.

He came to Newport in 1865, fourteen years ago. Since that he has been in the employ of the Messrs. G. A. & J. L. Hazard, on Church street, with the exception of a portion of a year in 1874-5. At that time his health failed, and he went across the continent on that account, and happily returned greatly improved. His final attack of disease originated from a violent cold, taken three years ago the present month. He was a very great sufferer during a portion of his sickness, but near the close of life was mercifully relieved. He fell asleep, Tuesday evening like a tired child, sweetly trusting in the love of his Redeemer.

Mr. Godbold was a person of remarkable powers of mind. He was quiet, unassuming, retiring, and yet never shrinking or swerving from the demand of duty, even though friends differed from him. He did not court prominence; and yet, if called, he was ever ready to do what he might. He was a close, untiring student, thorough and accurate. He delighted to converse with the intelligent, and educated; and such were many times surprised to learn of his many and varied attainments. It was not impossible to present to him a subject for thought and conversation, upon which he had not judiciously read and considerately pondered; but it was rarely done. Very few have excelled in those respects. His mind was of the refined cast, and one which moved quickly and usually, accurately. He could readily transfer the form and visage of a friend, from his eye, to paper, as the many striking portraits he has left plainly show. He delighted in nature, to ramble through the fields, over brooks, by the seaside; and his eye was quick to perceive their beauties or grandeur. Did a patron conceive a design, he would immediately take it with all its imperfection, and fill it out; then remove its imperfections and present the same to the surprised and delighted designer, in all its completeness.

Mr. Godbold delighted, as in everything else, to study, and be as perfect as possible in all the details. Many were repeatedly surprised and delighted, by his admirable recitative—"And God said let there be lights in the firmament," from the "Creation." As in everything else, so in his organ study and playing, he was modest, unassuming, conscientious, severely chaste and pure. The casual and unthinking listener may have thought him tame and lifeless. But the thinking, educated, devout worshiper was always delighted and assisted in his devotion. His organ was additional power given him for the purpose of aiding in the worship of God. He took his seat at the noble instrument, reverently; and in his voluntaries, offered his best, most cultivated, loving praises to his Maker. He would have felt humbled, guilty, if he had made one effort of self display in the sanctuary. That last effort of his was something which many will never forget to the end of life. His body was weak, very weak; but his spirit was all afire with love and praise. "He never felt so like playing," and he never so played before. It was an act of praise from a devout worshiper, and, alas! his last.

A widow and two children receive the benedictions of such a life of a good husband and loving father.

Germans of Paterson climbed to the top of Garrett Mountain, to the number of 3000, on Sunday morning, and welcomed the rising sun. For years it has been their custom to thus keep alive a home custom celebrating the return of spring. As early as 3 o'clock scores were seen picking their way to the summit, which commands the country for many miles, bringing New York and Brooklyn plainly within scope of the naked eye. The various singing societies and several bands furnished music and after the sun had appeared the great crowd wound down to breakfast in the city at the foot of the eminence.

If Congressman Lowe is just spoiling for a fight he might gird up his warlike loins and go out and give Sitting Bull a whirl. S. B. is not the man to refuse to accommodate a gentleman who is anxious to shoot somebody, and his education and civilization have raised him just about to Congressman Lowe's level so far as concerns the etiquette and practice of the duel.—[Burlington Hawkeye.

AN ACTUAL FACT.—Two men were conversing about the anticipated strike, the other day, when one of them, a mule spinner, remarked that he had been in twenty-six strikes during his life time. "Well," said the other, "did you ever make anything by it?" "Not once," was the reply, "lost every time."—[Fall River News.

A practical movement for the elevation of the poorer classes has been set on foot in England. It is called "The People's Entertainment Society." It is designed to counteract the influence of the music halls and public houses, the chief resorts of the laboring poor in search of amusement. The entertainments are free, and first-class artists are engaged in many cases.

EPISCOPAL MISSIONARY CONFERENCE.

The clergy and laity of the Protestant Episcopal Church began their session in Providence, yesterday, with a celebration of the Holy Communion in St. Stephen's Church, and an address by the Bishop of the diocese. In the celebration the Bishop was assisted by Rev. Joshua Rimber, Secretary of one of the Missionary Committees, and Rev. W. Colwell, the rector of the church.

A meeting was held in the afternoon at All Saints Memorial Church for the purpose of an informal consideration of the subject, "Missions Within the United States." The Bishop presided.

In the evening another interesting session was held at All Saints. There was a large congregation. At 8 o'clock the surpliced choir and clergy marched into the church singing as the processional, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." A choral service was then proceeded with, the rector of the church and the Bishop of the Diocese being the officiating clergymen.

GLEANINGS AND GOSSIP.

Uranus, a planet that few have seen, is seventy times as big as the earth.

About 200 divorce cases are to come before the supreme court for Suffolk county.

John Cloud's daughter, a Union Vt., village (Thetford) girl, has 11 grand parents living.

The Troy House of Troy, N. Y., the leading hotel in that busy city, is excellently managed.

Dean Academy, Franklin, gets a bequest of $10,000 by the will of the late Lucretia Pond of Petersham.

A Mrs. Konald of Collinsville, aged 78, who has suffered from asthma for 35 years, had a violent and almost fatal fit the other day, and when she recovered, the disease had left her.

Minnesota never had such a rush of settlers as have flocked into the state this spring. Three trains heavily loaded with immigrants are sent out of St. Paul every morning, and most of the new comers settle in the state, too.

While there are in the Church of England a number of very valuable livings, some of them yielding an income which enables incumbents to lay up fortunes, there are others that are extremely poor, the smallest being that of Shipton, which is worth only $15 a year.

The course for the Yale-Harvard boat race at New London has already been surveyed, and the mile and quarter-mile division marked. Rafts, eight square, are to be fastened at each eighth of a mile, and every one will have a tall mast, with flags of crimson and blue alternating.

Young's Hotel, Boston, is crowded every night. Messrs. Hall & Whipple have leased one whole floor in Barrister's Hall, overlooking the Court House, and are fitting it up in a first-class manner for additional sleeping rooms. Their prosperity, though almost phenomenal, is well deserved.

Great stress is laid by judges on the condition and appearance of a dog's hair, or, in kennel parlance, his "coat." As was the case with the old mahogany dining tables of which our grandfathers were so proud, nothing will bring out the desired shine as well as frequent rubbing with the palm of the hand.

The beauties of fox-hunting in England were recently illustrated at Milfield, where reynard ran into the post-office and then dashed into a cottage close by, closely followed by the dogs. Furniture, china and glass were banged about and broken, and, after a lively racket, the fox was killed under a bed.

The wife of a workman in a paper mill near Wilmington, Del., surprised her family, when she was seized with a fatal stroke of paralysis the other day, by calling them around her bedside and telling them to dig in a certain corner of the cellar, where they would find $6000—her patient savings for 30 years.

James Parton has discovered a new plan to insure a long and successful life. He would say to every young man, "If you mean to attain one of the prizes of your profession and live a cheerful life to the age of eighty, throw away your dirty old pipe, put your cigars in the stove, never buy any more," &c. Young man, "put that in your pipe and smoke it."

A Nevada paper states that a man, calling himself Charles H. Pendleton of New Haven, Ct., has recently arrived in San Francisco, having traveled by palace car from the Atlantic to the Pacific without paying a cent for passage. The feat was accomplished on a wager of $10,000, and by means of a hammock, which was slung crosswise between the rods which run under the palace cars. The hammock had stays to keep it from swinging and a contrivance to haul it and its occupant close up to the bottom of the car whenever the train stopped, in order to escape observation. The hammock was lined with oilskin, and another oilskin, with a veil attached to keep the dust from the face of the traveler, covered the top. On the brake-rods and other convenient places were hung canned meats, etc., upon which the adventurer subsisted during his journey.

For Lykens Valley coal, deep red ash, just the kind for spring and summer use, go to Pinniger & Manchester's, Perry Mill wharf.

A TALE OF A DOG HOUSE.—On Temple street, South Providence, lives a Mr. Salisbury. On the opposite side and a little back of the street, is a building which is used for a barn and a carpenter shop. Yesterday there was a dog-house sitting near the barn—not in use as a dog house, but full of straw and refuse material. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon, ladies living in the vicinity saw a vast volume of smoke issuing from the portion of the barn near the dog-house. They could not tell whether the barn or the dog-house was on fire, but as an "ounce of prevention," etc., the fire alarm was sounded. The fire department rushed to the scene. The dog-house was quietly taken up and set one side all alone by itself. The barn was safe. The excitement subsided. The firemen returned. The dog-house was scorched just a little on one corner. Children and matches, probably. Selah.—[Prov. Journal.

FASHION NOTES.

The average price paid for having a dress made by any one of the many "Worths" in New York is $35.

Olive shades appear in hosiery, and one of the fancies in these are the polka dots of embroidery in different colors.

The tight-fitting basque is in great favor; the fulness of the overskirt is disposed in bouffant form about the hips, while the skirt is still narrow and clinging.

It is said that fine black thread stockings worked in light colors, will be very fashionable this summer, and are intended to match the black and colored grenadines and Persian silk costumes.

Bags made of a piece of the material of the dress and embroidered with some pretty flower, are suspended from the arm, and give a quaint, old-fashioned look to the girl of the brie-a-brac period.

The elegance of a garment is so much enhanced by the graceful disposition of the drapery and the perfect fit of the waist, that even a cheap material may be made up to look like something very handsome, if it be only cut, draped and trimmed according to correct rules.

The materials used this spring are nearly all soft and pliable, and susceptible of being converted into the most graceful draperies, and are especially adapted to the present manner of arranging folds, puffs and sashes. This matter of drapery involves the greatest changes that have been made in dresses this season.

The new line of hosiery for spring and summer wear, has just been imported, and the colors are in cream, light blue, and pink, light gray, with textures of the finest Sea Island cotton thread, and silk. The Balbriggans are shown in deep ecru, almost as deep as old gold, and are embroidered in vines up the front or each side with black and colored silks.

NEWPORT.

There is always room for a respectable man at Newport, but it is advisable for every man to go early to secure a comfortable cottage or hotel accommodations. The animation imparted a year or two since by James Gordon Bennett has rendered the resort more attractive, and it is probable there will be a great influx of visitors this season. Newport is situated on the Island of Rhode, (commonly called Rhode Island) at the southern terminus of the Old Colony railroad, 68 miles south of Boston, and has long maintained a high prestige as a summer resort. It has ample connections by steamers from all parts of the East. The city is one of considerable importance, having a population of 15,000, with three thriving newspapers, one of which claims to be the oldest in the United States. It is to a great extent the favorite summer home of men of quiet tastes and superior mental attainments, and its social characteristics are all that could be desired by the most honorable families. There is also considerable historical interest associated with Newport, and its centennial celebration was a memorable one. A large business is transacted in the city, which has extensive manufactures and contains also the county and semi-capital of the state. Many visitors prefer to reside in the city and take their daily drives to the beach, but the principal points of attraction are located directly by the sea shore or on the eastern coast of Narragansett Bay, which is dotted all over with pretty villas. Wm. Cullen Bryant, Geo. Bancroft, Charlotte Cushman, Longfellow, Everts and Winthrop were always partial to Newport. George Bancroft, the historian, owns a fine cottage here and generally makes it his permanent resting place during the summer months; Charlotte Cushman spent several seasons in Newport and owned a handsome residence near the centre of the city, which, after her death, became the property of her nephew, Mr. Edward Cushman, who now occupies it with his family both summer and winter. The patrons of today are usually persons of wealth and culture. Steamers leave New York city every week day during the season direct for Newport, landing within a few rods of the principal hotels. Newspapers from all parts of the world are constantly on file there, and guests never have an opportunity to miss any of the facilities of city life.—[Hotel Gazette and Traveller's Monitor.

YOUTHFUL NEEDLEWOMEN.

If only those persons who are agitating the question of abolishing sewing in public schools could have been present at the exhibition of needlework at the Winthrop school on Tremont street, Boston, the other afternoon, they would have been met with a silent but unanswerable argument in favor of continuing the instruction. There is a very old and equally homely proverb which says that "the proof of the pudding is in the eating;" and it holds true of many other things besides. The best way to prove what good has been accomplished by this branch of study is to see the work which has been done by the children during their two hours a week devoted to the needle.

The work was spread out on long tables running the length of the hall; there were four of them, and all were well filled; each piece of white work was nicely laundried, and the whole looked very nice and dainty. The name and age of each pupil was attached to the work, also the number of the class of which she is a member. The piece which carried off the palm was a chemise made by Irene Dubee, ten years of age, the stiches were a marvel for fineness, and everything about it was perfectly finished. Probably the most attention was given to a skirt with insertion and edge of hand-made lace, all the work of Elizabeth Murphy, thirteen years of age; the lace was a pattern darned with linen floss on to plain net, the edge finished with button-hole stich, and was a very ambitious piece of work for a little girl.

There were some very nice specimens of handkerchief and pillow-slip marking in hand embroidery, and some very pretty designs in braiding. Some of the pillow shams were finished with hand-hemmed and drawn ruffling, others with a needlework edge. There was no machine work in anything; everything was done by hand, although so accurately, especially on the pieces where stitching was required, that it was very difficult to believe that it was not done by the machine.

It was sewing afternoon as well as exhibition day, and as the visitors passed landing after landing and looked in at the open doors they saw long lines of happy faces bending over their work. The teachers say that the children like their sewing lesson; they turn to it as a relief from their mental labor; they seem to like mechanical, hard work of every kind, and they do their mental work better for the respite which the needle and the drawing pencil give them. The pupils are allowed to choose what work they will do; they are shown how to prepare it by Miss Isabel Cummings, who has the sole charge of this department of teaching, and it is under her able instruction that so much and such good work is accomplished. Plain sewing of all kinds and embroidery is taught in all classes except the first, and this devotes itself to dressmaking. The consequence is that when those girls leave school they do not have all this to learn, but they are capable of taking places as sempstresses or dressmakers; or if they are not called upon for that, they are invaluable assistants to the mother, whose work at best is always hurried, and she has learned in all thoroughness the useful art of needle-work. Neither has she lost in any other way; the two hours a week have not put her back in her mental tasks, and she has when she is through school practical and thorough knowledge of at least one branch of study, and does not emerge from the flutter of the muslin and ribbons of graduation into a perfectly useless career.

WHAT THE REFUGEES FLEE FROM.

A substantial movement was begun at Philadelphia, Friday, looking to the amelioration of the condition of the colored men, who are seeking homes in Kansas, and who desire to escape their oppressors in the South. The meeting was held at the Mayor's office, and was attended by the leading citizens, all of whom, it must be remarked, are known as Republicans in politics. C. R. Tondy, of St. Louis, a colored man, who has been actively engaged in obtaining aid for his brethren, made a speech, detailing the true cause of the emigration. In addition, he presented 22 affidavits from intelligent refugees, setting forth why they left Mississippi and Louisiana. They say, in substance, that they are assessed an enormous price for the land there, besides being charged extravagant rates for everything in the way of supplies. For instance, for molasses they were obliged to pay $1.50 a gallon, when the same could be bought in St. Louis for 30 cents. A very active man, who worked on a plantation year in and year out, but who could see no result of his labor, resolved to go to Kansas. He fled, and on that account, his wife, who was left behind, was dragged from her home and hanged. Addresses were made by Col. Forney and others, and it was agreed to receive subscriptions at Drexel & Co.'s and at the Mayor's office.

Mr. Tennyson had his pen portrait taken the other day by somebody who met him walking in a London park. This is it: "He looked tall, somewhat stout, round-shouldered, and he walked with a stick, as though the gout were hanging about his legs or feet. He had a long beard which almost buried his face, and wore a pair of large, round, Chinese-looking spectacles. He had on a very broad-brimmed, weather-worn felt hat, dark trousers, gaiters, several undercoats or jackets, covered over all by a thin, shabby-looking, red tweed dust-coat, buttoned very tightly, as though it were much too small for him. Dangling outside, from what should have been a clean white shirt front, was a pair of large, gold-rimmed nose spectacles. He was one of the oddest-looking creatures I have ever seen out a Mormon meeting.

Can a dairy maid be called a cow-catcher?

Dried apples are used as dessert at all swell parties.

A boy with his elbows out was asked the cause and replied, "I laughed in my sleeves till I burst them."

A wit having been asked by another person whether he would advise him to lend a friend of theirs money, said, "What? Lend him money? You might give him an emetic and he wouldn't return it."

Birds sing sweetest in spring time, when they are choosing mates. Before fall they will be fighting over a worm and picking each other's eyes out. Such is life.—[New Orleans Picayune.

Elder sister (to little one, who appears to take great interest in Mr. Skibbens): "Come little pet, it is time your eyes were shut in sleep." Little pet: "I think not. Mother told me to keep my eyes open when you and Mr. Skibbens were together."

He entered the grocery store, said not a word, but allowed his cane to swing to and fro exactly as the pendulum of a clock. The grocer only said, "No, we sell nothing on tick," and the man with the cane passed sadly and silently out.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

Wash a baby up clean and dress him up real pretty, and he will resist all advances with a most superlative crossness; but let him eat molasses gingerbread and fool around the coal-hod for half an hour, and he will nestle his dear little dirty face close up to your clean shirt-bosom, and be just the lovingest, cunningest little rascal in all the world.

Both have been thoroughly tested and with entire success. Being complete manures they are adapted to all lands and all crops. Not an ounce of sand, loam or other refuse is added for adulteration, and the price at which they are sold is not above the cost of the several ingredients when purchased by the single ton. Put up in bags or barrels for $40.00 a ton for the Ashes, and $30.00 for the Yard Manure. At these figures the plant food in one is as cheap as in the other. J. A. WILLIAMS, the original, is ready to take and fill orders for this style of pictures at his room, No. 1 Touro block, Bellevue avenue, Newport, R. I. The Artotype process is good enough to satisfy the most exacting and will for this reason receive opposition from none but those who will have lost all opportunity to benefit by its immense advantage. The Artotypes are far superior to Silver Prints or old style Photo made from the same negative with the additional merit of being as permanent as a steel engraving. Artotype is a name given by the proprietor of a patent for printing by means of a process in fatty inks and in colored inks. The price of photo in silver I will take for about one half of the old process or less than any other Photographer charges for the same style of work. J. A. W. a9

LAWNS AND GARDENS.

THE "ARTIFICIAL ASHES AND ARTIFICIAL YARD MANURE" are greatly to be preferred to stable dressing for lawns and gardens. 1st—Because they contain all the elements of plant food, and are therefore suited to all soils and all crops. 2d—Because they do not introduce foul seeds and coarse grasses. Many a man seeds his garden with weeds, and ruins his lawn by the ordinary appliances. These artificials are also cheaper than the originals. They may be ordered at George A. PATENT

PARABOLA SPECTACLES

THE SPECTACLE LENS in common use, termed Double Convex, has but one focus, and that being in its centre, admits of a perfect vision only through its centre. Could the glass be attached to the eye, so as to move with it, or the head be made to turn and accommodate the sight, while the eyes remained fixed, the Double Convex Lens would not be so objectionable, but as neither of these plans could be very well accomplished, an easier method to remedy this important defect in all the hitherto constructed "helps to the defective human vision" is desirable; this end is attained in the Parabola Glasses, which, having not only a central focus, but (for all practical purposes) one throughout, the objection above name is obviated, as they will enable the wearer to perceive objects at every angle of vision, with all the correctness of the natural healthy sight. Those who have made use of both descriptions of glasses, assert that the Parabola are superior in the mild sensation they produce in comparison with the Double Convex, and the ability to use them for a greater length of time, both day and night, without occasioning a sense of weariness or fatigue. This difference, except to weak eyes, is not immediately apparent; but when properly fitted, a short trial only is necessary to convince the wearer of their superiority in every respect.

FERTILIZERS!

ONE REASON why the plant food in the "Artificial Ashes" and "Artificial Yard Manure" comes 20 per cent. cheaper than in most other fertilizers in this market is, that they are bought of the manufacturer, and without the usual profit of the retailer and the added expense of freight. A careful reckoning made from the analysis accompanying the bags sold in the market, shows that the cost of ammonia, phosphoric acid, and potash in these Newport Fertilizers is fully 20 per cent. less than in any other offered here. As the fertilizing ingredients are given in each case, it is an easy matter to decide on the relative values.

These fertilizers are made in Newport without the use of an ounce of sand, loam or other refuse, and in all cases of the very best materials. In these times 20 per cent. is worth saving. Further particulars given when desired. L. D. DAVIS.

CARPET BEATING!

In connection with the Newport Laundry, we have put in a patent

by which the Carpets are beaten on the back and brushed on the face. The dust and dirt as fast as beaten out of the fabric, are removed from the compartment where the carpets are beaten, by an exhaust fan, which also removes and carries out of the room any moth or other larva which may be beaten out of the carpet with the dirt and dust, so that there is no possibility of their settling back on the carpet.

Prices for Beating Carpets.

Ingrain and Three-Ply.....6 cents per yard.
Brussels and Tapestry.....5 cents per yard.
Velvet and Wilton.....6 cents per yard.

A special price will be made to parties having 100 yards or more done at one time.

As the machine is under cover, carpets can be beaten in stormy, as well as in pleasant weather.

English and Rag Carpets will be Washed for Six Cents per Square Yard.

Manilla, Hemp or Rope Carpets, thoroughly cleaned for from 6 to 12 cents per yard

Orders may be sent by mail, directed to the Newport Laundry, given to the driver of the Laundry wagon, or may be left with J. D. Richardson, 212 Thames street, agent for the Newport Laundry.

Artificial Ashes!

THIS FERTILIZER is made up on the basis of good Wood Ashes and contains all the elements of Plant Food that are found in Ashes, and in the same proportions. A thorough trial has shown that its use is equally beneficial and much more economical.

Artificial Yard Manure.

This article is composed of such materials as furnish a mixture containing all the elements found in stable manure and in the same proportions. When it is desired to enrich the soil it is necessary to add certain ingredients such as potash, phosphoric acid, ammonia, soda, magnesia, etc. These are all found in the Artificial on the same basis as in stable manure.

The cost is less than in purchased yard manure and at least twenty per cent. less than in some of the most popular commercial fertilizers. Neither of these articles have an ounce of sand, loam or refuse added for the sake of bulk or weight. Each farmer is left to make his own reduction in strength.

No such articles as dried blood, fish, animal meal, etc., etc., are used to obtain nitrogen as in many other cases.

Good corn was raised last year on light land by the application of $15.00 worth to the acre. It was also used in several Newport gardens, and on numerous lawns with excellent effect.

Were these articles diluted like others sold by weight the price could be made accordingly. With the present strength and purity the Artificial Ashes will cost $40 a ton, and the Artificial Yard Manure $30.00. At these prices the fertilizers come at a less cost than the several ingredients can be bought for by the single ton, were the farmer to mix them himself. Besides in this case in buying so much at a time, low prices are not only obtained, but the cost of analysis can be afforded by which it is known that the articles used are as represented.

These are complete manures suited to all soils and all crops, which are the only ones that can be used in safety. Partial fertilizers, like fish, may force an immediate crop but are sure to exhaust the land.

For mown crops and seeding nothing can be better than the Artificial Ashes. It is also exactly suited to pastures and meadows. For herd crops the Artificial Yard Manure is to be preferred.

Orders may be sent to the undersigned at the office of this paper. Terms cash. Circulars sent on application.
